

An aerial photograph of Farmers Branch, Texas, centered on the I-35 corridor. The image shows a dense urban area with numerous commercial buildings, parking lots, and residential neighborhoods. Major highways are visible, including I-35 running vertically through the center, and I-635 running horizontally across the bottom. Several local streets are labeled, such as Old Denton, Josey Ln, Webb Chapel Rd, Larry Hines Blvd, and Hall. The text "Farmers Branch I-35 Corridor June 19, 2018" is overlaid in white on the right side of the image.

Farmers Branch I-35 Corridor June 19, 2018

STUDY AREA

- Part of the National transportation corridor
- Serves as a Regional corridor for goods/services
- Functions as gateway to West Side and Central Area
- Provides local crossings via Valwood and Valley View to east/west
- Contains scarce undeveloped land
- Opportunities for future redevelopment potential
- Key “front door” of City

EXISTING CONDITIONS

EXISTING CONDITIONS

Issues

- Limited remaining development parcels
- Fragmented ownership
- Multiple visions for future
 - PD-70 Old Farmers Branch (east side of corridor - 1994)
 - West Side Plan (2003)
 - Station Area Conceptual Master Plan (2002, 2012)
- “Farmers Branch” is not perceived as a first choice for corporate attraction
- Limited reinvestment in corridor due to TXDOT activities

Assets

- DART
- Direct access to I-35E, I-635, DNT, PGBTP
- Private investment (Mustang Station, Mercer Crossing, Vintage Townhomes)
- Access to 2 International airports in under 20 minutes
- Strong regional concentration of higher education (Brookhaven, SMU, UNT, UTD, UTA)
- Adjacent to emerging destination restaurants, city parks, city hall

SUMMARY

- Corridor is strategic to city
- Lack of vision, brand and context are impacting private investment
- Demographics and other factors reflect significant development potential
- Positive retail, office and mixed residential demand supports developing a new vision for the corridor in order to harness higher quality sustainable development opportunities.

TARGET INDUSTRIES

- Positioning for corporate office would strategically harness choice companies, such as:
 - Management
 - Business and financial services
 - Architectural
 - Legal
 - Sales
 - Office
 - Technology
- To harness greater vision, corporate users will require first-class environment with retail amenities, urban living linked to open space and quality places

OPPORTUNITIES

- Leverage current development momentum to maximize future density in “Core”
- Increase connectivity to DART, regional trail system, parks and assets
- Capitalize on location and build identity “I-35 corridor” as a choice place for dense mixed-use w/ corporate, retail and hospitality or other appropriate corridor uses

NEXT STEPS

- Formulate a new vision for the corridor based on market realities and building upon existing strengths (i.e. Station Area; Mercer Crossing; Dr Pepper Stars Center; and regional momentum)
- Develop an implementation strategy for accomplishing the new corridor vision (short-term, mid-term, and long-term objectives)
- Begin allocating financial resources to catalyze projects outlined in the vision plan for future public/private opportunities
- Maximize development standards and zoning to promote placemaking and walkability objectives, while at the same time balancing those objectives with development form commonly found along first-class regional highway corridors
