What are the three things that are most important to you when serving the public?

1. I want to do something positive that directly supports the community that I live in. 2. I don't want quick and easy volunteering opportunities--I want to help others in my community solve problems. 3. I want to undertake work that supports economic and community development.

Describe in your own words the role and responsibility of a board member.

A planning and zoning commission member is responsible for advising the city council on matters including zoning requests and the platting of land. The board members must participate in two monthly meetings, study for agendas ahead of time, and when necessary, visit property sites for observation. Commission members should be prepared and present for all meetings and hearings.

Describe a time when you had to analyze information and make a recommendation.

In my day job, I'm required to make a variety of recommendations on matters including sensitive public communications, budgets, purchasing and personnel. Purchasing decisions require a high level of scrutiny. I've been responsible for making recommendations on major expenditures, including a project to design and build a new public exhibit on the Federal Reserve, and projects to revamp major websites. When making these recommendations, I go the extra mile to scrutinize all available information, including company background, pricing and quality of service. My goal is always to make the decision that's best for my organization. In applying this experience to the planning and zoning commission, my goal would be similar: to make a recommendation that's best for the community. ### What are the three things that are most important to you when serving the public?

---

1. Ethics 2. Transparency 3. Accountability

Describe in your own words the role and responsibility of a board member.

The role of each board member is to work together to ensure that the best interest of the community is represented at all times. The board might not always agree, but it is the role of the members to work together to find an amicable solution that continues to improve the Farmers Branch community. Representation is vital and is accomplished through attendance at meetings, active participation and follow-up with assigned tasks. It is essential for the members of the board to also be productive members of our community to represent those interests to the board best. Being a member of the board is not just about showing up to meetings. It is a commitment that is altering the future of our city and should be taken seriously by being prepared when discussions and votes arise. Each member must take the time to educate themselves on the upcoming votes and continually seek constituent input on the proposed tasks.

Describe a time when you had to analyze information and make a recommendation.

I am serving my third year, having been appointed by the University President, on the Student Service Fee Committee at the University of North Texas. The Student Service Fee Committee is tasked with listening to over 50 departments present their proposed budgets for the upcoming fiscal year. The group then sets priorities, deliberates each budget and makes a recommendation to the University President. The committee structure is established by Texas law, following the open meetings policy. It is the role of each committee member to represent best the 38,000 constituents enrolled at UNT which totals over $11 million that this group is tasked with analyzing and then making a recommendation on the allocation. As one can imagine, this analysis is not one that should be treated half-heartedly and with this large sum of money comes many opinions on the recommendation of the allocation. Serving as the chair for a year allowed me to appreciate the value that comes with transparency and accountability within a council and the importance of ethics being a foundational value.

What are the three things that are most important to you when serving the public?

Three things that are important when serving the public are: 1. Compassion and empathy for others 2. Ability to be objective 3. Always remember why you chose to serve

Describe in your own words the role and responsibility of a board member.

As I see it board members support the the Council is setting priorities for the successful operation of the city. This means attending the required number of meetings, participating in the meeting by asking thoughtful questions and ensuring that the board remains on task.

Describe a time when you had to analyze information and make a recommendation.

As a manager, I was aware of an ongoing injustice and provided input to my second line manager on why the suggested course of action might not be in the best interest of anyone involved. While the recommended action might have been expedient, it would have given a black eye to the decision-makers. I explained the reasons why the course of action needed to be re-examined; as a result, the second line manager took my advice and we ended up with a successful outcome, where everyone benefited long-term. In this instance, it was important to help the second line manager recognize that since he was new to the office, the suggested action might reflect poorly on him.

What are the three things that are most important to you when serving the public?

I have served in a management role in my employment for 4 years now, overseeing teams with a large variety of goals. I am a dedicated resident of Farmers Branch who wants the best for the health of the local economy and to champion residential priorities. Served in a variety of volunteer roles through my church, including one-on-one mentoring, leaders in our pre-marital prep classes as table leaders for 4+ couples, homeless outreach, and economic improvement projects.
