COVID-19 Current State Analysis and Forecasting for the DFW Region

Department of Internal Medicine Lyda Hill Department of Bioinformatics Department of Emergency Medicine UTSW Health System Information Resources

Models change daily

How contagious is COVID-19 in DFW now?

Each line represents how contagious COVID-19 has been in DFW counties over the last few weeks. Contagiousness depends on how well we social distance, wear masks, limit travel, clean high touch surfaces, etc. During the stay-at-home time, the virus was not that contagious but has since gotten more so and will continue to fluctuate.

UTSW COVID Forecasting

Are North Texans staying at home now?

Visits to non-essential stores, encounters between people, and the overall distance that people traveled fell sharply from mid-March to early April, Beginning in the 3rd week of April, movement increased and continues to increase. We follow these trends closely to understand how well people are social distancing, which in turn helps us revise our model to predict any trouble on the horizon.

What is the impact of preventative measures on the future spread in Dallas County?

Social distancing & other prevention measures are currently ~60% effective at curbing the spread of COVID-19.

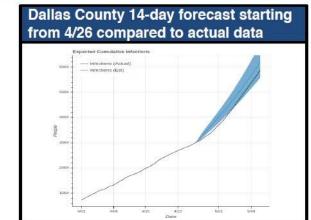

- If measures were 57% effective, the red line would happen.
- If measures remain 60% effective, the orange line would happen.
- If measures were 65% effective, the green line would happen.
- If measures were 69% effective, the blue line would happen.

Note: model assumes perfect isolation of hospitalized cases, which has a dampening effect on effective Re

Dallas County - Past Model Accuracy and Future Forecasting

The graph above demonstrates how well our model would have predicted the past two weeks of COVID-19 cases had we run the current model two weeks ago. Predicted COVID-19 infections are represented by the blue line (shaded area represents 90% confidence interval), and the black line shows actual reported COVID-19 infections. This suggests that the model predicted the number of cases with 90% confidence

- Dallas County COVID-19 hospitalizations (red line) are predicted to resume their increase within 2 weeks, reaching between 350-460 concurrent hospitalized cases.
- New COVID-19 infections (orange line) are expected to outpace new recoveries (blue line) slightly, meaning that the number of new COVID-19 infections will continue to increase to ~350 new cases per day.

This model assumes the impact of nonpharmaceutical interventions (NPIs) was 62% before May 1 and that the effectiveness of NPIs will be reduced to 49% by mid-May.

   1,045 times.
- May-July Metrocrest expects that Farmers Branch families will visit the drive thru pantry 1,950 times at a potential cost of $181,662.
  - The cost of food is predicated on the availability of inexpensive food from the North Texas Food Bank vs. purchasing from food distributors and retailers.
  - As time goes by Metrocrest believes the North Texas Food Bank will once again be a reliable provider of food thus reducing their overall food cost.
